Narrator: What if you could see into the future? Who would be your family doctor? Your daughter's teacher? Who would be your community's next leader? Your country's president? Now what if you already knew these future leaders? You may greet them at church, bump into them on the bus, or see them tirelessly working in a coffee shop. And what if you could start investing in and cultivating your future right now? Today you could meet your future doctor. You could talk with the future teacher of your children. You could discuss issues with what will be your community's next leader or maybe even your next Representatives or Senators. A great amount of these future people, what will be the essential people of your community, are the students at College of Southern Nevada High School. At CSN High, our motto is "Seize the Opportunity". With this mindset at the forefront of our plight, we take chances and make impacts in everything we do. We struggled for our spots at this school because we desire to invest in our future as well."

Student Speaker 1: The thing I like best about CSNHS is that it really helps you get a leg up on your future and it's a lot of free college credits and all the coll-and all the benefits that are available to the college students are also available to me.: like the computer lab, the library and the tutoring.

Student Speaker 2: I like CSNHS mainly because I get ahead 2 years in my education and who doesn't want more college once you get out of scholarships?

Unseen Student Speaker 3: At CSN High School we believe in art. Art stands for Accountability, Respect and Character. It helps us tie together high school and college life to make 1 unified high school. Another thing about CSN is that we're culturally diverse and accepting. At CSNHS we have 29 students who are graduating with their Associates degree before they even graduate from (high) school. At CSNHS, many of our students have earned many prestigious scholarships. Between the 3 campuses, CSNHS students have projected cumulative total of over $8 million dollars worth of scholarships.

Student Speaker 4: We also have kids going to college from coast to coast including Loyola Marymount, Montana State, Pennsylvania University and (unintelligible) University. We also have kids that stay in-state and attend UNLV or UNR and some stay at CSN. Those who finish their degrees at CSN receive the CSN Presidential Scholarship Award and CSN pays for all of the credits they need left for their degree.

Unseen Student Speaker 5: Each CSNHS campus has a We The People team where student compete in statewide competitions discussing civic engagement and the constitution. The East Campus went to State and a few of our teams got first place in their unit. At CSNHS our Student Council is just as involved in community service projects as planning school events. Student council has done projects such as: Adopt a Family, a Wind Up service grant for Project 150, and bake sales for breast cancer awareness, a fundraiser for Bikers Against Child Abuse, clothing drives, volunteer work at Three Square and Opportunity Village as well as participating in various charity marathons and runs such as the Rock N Roll Run and the Color Run.

Student Speaker 6: Here at CSNHS East Campus, we earned the NASC Blue Star Award and this is the first year any of our CSN campuses have earned an award.

Speaker Anita: Hi, my name is Bonita Rowles, 2017-2018 Student Body President for CSN High School East and a few of the goals I have for next year are to unite the junior and senior campuses, to communicate with the other campuses better and to raise school spirit.

Student Robert Jacobsen: Our goals for next year are more communication, better student involvement, and more fundraising.

Student Speaker 7: My memories of CSN High School is learning a lot about government, participating in the We The People event--it was extremely fun and I'll remember it forever.

Student Speaker 8: I like CSN because it's, um, there's a lot more freedom and so we're able to mature more and get ready for college.

Student Speaker 9: We're all still in high school and we all still go out and do things, like, we all hang out together even though we all take college classes. There are still our high school classes that keep us, like, as a family and close together.
